Board of Trustees Plays to Capacity

When it comes to staging something sensational the San Francisco members was forcibly ejected from a meeting, has nothing on the Carmel board of trustees.

In the midst of a busy session on Wednesday night, when the Nelson-Flanders matter came up for consideration, city attorney Argyll Campbell was reciting the procedure, when trustee Perry Newberry interrupted to state that he had been informed that the city attorney had acted in behalf of the Flanders' interests in endeavoring to effect a compromise, and that therefore Campbell was not in a position to act for the city. Newberry offered a motion that the city attorney be instructed not to act for the municipality.

Campbell, replying, said: "This motion is a reflection on my integrity and professional conduct, and should it be adopted my resignation will be immediately tendered." He said that it was a fact that he had conferred with both parties to the controversy, but that in endeavoring to effect a compromise he was acting strictly in behalf of the city if he could present a plan agreeable to the trustees.

Campbell also states that in trying to effect a compromise he automatically forfeited a $500 fee from the city in condemnation proceedings.

At the conclusion of some further talk, trustee T. B. Beardon made a motion that Campbell be tendered a vote of confidence. This motion was seconded by trustee Newberry and unanimously, calling forth wild applause from the audience. The matter of closing Carpenter street will come up again on Tuesday, June 5.

All the trustees except Miss Helen W. Parkes, who is in the Yosemite, were present, and fifty or more residents were on hand to hear the proceedings.

When the proposed re-survey of streets in old Carmel came up for consideration another storm broke. A number of property owners in that section were emphatic in their opposition, among them John Y. Arnot, Louis Tarango, Mrs. W. T. Dummage and G. W. Dorwart. Following explanations by Dr. A. E. Burton and Argyll Campbell, trustee Newberry's motion to abandon the whole scheme was adopted.

A communication was received from W. M. Basham requesting a five year lease on the bath house on the beach, owned by the city, at a rental of $100 a year. This request could not be complied with owing to the fact that trustee Newberry had arranged with Earl Ammerman to rent the place for this season at $75 for four months.

The bid of contractor Sydney Ruthven to improve San Antonio street was accepted. The amount of the bid was $8700. Inquiry from J. H. McKee as to whether the improvement included the care of storm water was answered in the negative.

Enactment of a business license ordinance was deferred until June 5th, when a committee of the local chamber of commerce will present recommendations.

Seventh avenue and Dolores street property owners were requested to be present on June 5th to discuss the improvement of one block on both thoroughfares.

Winsor Josselyn appeared before the board to protest against the building material obstacles on Dolores street. The nuisance was ordered abated.

The contemplated improvement of Eleventh avenue was abandoned by the board.

The request of the fire chief was re-

Thumbnail Sketch of Play of Kismet

By Susan Porter

THERE is hammering on the stage of the Forest theater these days. Already a great gate rises at the rear, and against the sky a minaret lifts slenderly. When the lights go up for the July play it is a street of Bagdad they will show, the Bagdad not of James Elroy Flecker, but of Edward Knoblauch, Hassan the dreamer will not moan his broken dream there; it is Hajj the beggar who will snore and whine by the steps of the mosque.

But Hajj is a real person, from the very world that stirred Hassan to pity and terror, and Knoblauch's Bagdad, like Flecker's, is built of that thing we glimpsed when, at twelve, we read the Arabian Nights and realized dimly a colored web of beauty and cruelty, of craft and guile, of swift, horrible vengeance and unexpected sweet flowers of tenderness.

"Do ye take heed therein," says the Story-Teller in the prologue, "of the lesson taught by Fate, which the poets call Kismet. And mark well the chances and changes of time foredoomed to mortal man: lifting him now high, now sinking him low, even as the bucket in the well."

Chances and changes there are indeed in this story of a beggar's one great day. At dawn Hajj the beggar shores at the gate of the mosque, waking to cajole alms from the faithful who come to prayer. Back of his whines lies a purpose, an ache for vengeance on Jawan, who had stolen his wife and stabbed his son. Dramatically he finds Jawan and by his enemy's own ironic gift of gold, he sees opened to him "the Gate of Action." The day is mine to joy. And when the night falleth, Allah allowing, I shall hold mine enemy in the hollow of my hand!

But the gold that he will not share and the greed that makes of him a tricky thief in the Bazaar Street of the Tailors, are as traps for his feet, and from visions of vengeance and power and happiness for the daughter he loves, he is haled before Mansur, Wazir of Police. Mansur, the favorite of the former Caliph, sees his power lessening under the more spiritual rule of the young Caliph, and he dreams of the crime that should re-establish him. In Hajj, drugged before him as a criminal, ready for torture, Mansur sees the appointed tool for his purpose; therefore he pardons him and elevates him to the position of his jester. The delighted Hajj swaggers out into the high noon among the cringing attendants, while behind him Mansur declares "He is the man to kill the Caliph."

It is an adroit plot, to kill the Caliph in full divan, but the wretched Hajj bungles it, and at sunset of his glorious day he is flung into a dungeon, where, by strange chance, lies his enemy Jawan, awaiting his almost promised freedom. They speak with the nakedness of hate together, and with the fall of the curtain it is Hajj who is borne away to liberty in Jawan's litter, while Jawan, clad in the garments of Hajj, lies dead in the shadows.

In the darkness of night Hajj flies to rescue his daughter, Marsinah, whom he had sent, in her young tragic loveliness, to be, as he thought, the wife of that same loathesomely cruel Mansur, whose hideous purposes he now guesses. Mansur, he had learned in the prison, to be the son of Jawan, and in killing him in his own harem Hajj finds an almost sacred joy. He strangles him and with his own hands throws him into the harem pool, crying: "O Allah! Thou hast delivered into my hands the father! Thou hast delivered into my hands the son! Glorified be thy glory!"

Marsinah is saved. And Marsinah's heart had been given once for all to a slender youth who had made grave and lovely love to her across a garden wall, and when in the moonlight of the final scene, he is revealed to her as the young Caliph himself, come in all his glory to claim her as his lawful bride, their happiness, so young and austere and dreamlike, lifts the tale almost out of reality. As the song of the wedding procession dies away, Hajj, pardoned but banished, Hajj, of the earth earthly, sits alone once more at the door of the mosque and murmurs, "I have lived today! Mine enemies dead—Marsinah wed—Meccah tomorrow (he yawns prodigiously)—My said is said. So glory be to the One, the Eternal... And to Mohammed..." His words trail off. He sleeps.

And upon Hajj sleeping in the moonlight the curtain falls, as upon Hajj sleeping it rose at dawn of this, his day of the days.

ferred to the fire commissioner with power to act.

To the chairman of the board and the city attorney was referred the matter of the late Mrs. E. R. Harrison's bequest to the city. And in this connection E. G. Kuster stated that he would like, as nearly as possible, to have his theatre-studio building and the Harrison library building conform architecturally.

Missionaries to Meet

The May meeting of the Carmel Missionary society will be held at the home of Rev. Fred Sheldon, Wednesday, May 23, at 3 p. m. Rev. Sheldon having conducted the study class on "The Trend of the Races," which dealt with the Negro problem, will present that subject. All are cordially invited.

Theater - Studio Building Proposed

ONE of the largest projects ever launched in Carmel is contemplated in the announcement of the organization of the Carmel Theater and Studio Corporation by Edward G. Kuster. The concern is capitalized at $50,000 and all the stock is subscribed.

Options on centrally located lots on Ocean avenue have been exercised. The building will consist of a first-class theater and concert room, with modern equipment and a capacity of 500 seats, together with ten studio apartments, each with north light and with kitchenette, dressing room and other modern apartment equipment. Adjacent to the studios will be a small exhibition salon. The cost of the entire improvement will be approximately $40,000. The theater will be known as the Carmel Theater.

It is stated that a moving picture concern is negotiating for exhibitors' rights for four months in the year, covering a term of years, and that the theater, equipped with a wide and deep stage, will also be available for plays of a kind heretofore impossible of production in Carmel.

Acoustic qualities and lighting facilities, as well as dressing room conveniences, comfortable seating and heating equipment will be given careful attention.

Said Mr. Kuster:

"To meet Carmel's rapid growth the studio apartments will supply a pressing need. As for the theater, it will require a considerable investment and will demand a business administration. But the aims and ideals of Mrs. Kuster and myself in matters theatrical and musical, as demonstrated during our several years of residence here, should be in themselves sufficient guarantee that the Carmel Theater will not be commercialized, in the disagreeable sense of the term.

"It is not generally known that a small 'chain' theater, to be owned and operated by a well-known motion picture and vaudeville syndicate, operating similar theaters in sundry small California towns, was destined for early establishment in the business section of Carmel. We felt that this was a critical moment, and that now was the time to gather such picture shows, stage plays, concerts, lectures and the like as would require down-town presentation, into one first-class, commodious house under Carmel management. A business section theater was inevitable—it is only by keeping such a theater under local ownership and control that Carmel will be free from syndicated commercialism.

"It is hardly necessary to say that local little theater groups, whether at present organized or to be organized in the future, as well as local musicians and impromptu groups of local players, will be accorded every possible preference in the use of the new theater. Our project, notwithstanding the necessity for reasonable financial return to us as investors, will be in effect an all Carmel institution."

Trio Beaux Arts

Miss Ella Shaw has as her guests tomorrow evening at Highland Inn, Marie Partridge, soprano; Zehua McDonough, danseuse, and Elizabeth Alexander, pianist. The are associated as Trio Beaux Arts, and will give a program of song with interpretative dancing. Carmelites are cordially invited.

Decided at Annual Meeting Construction of Arts & Crafts Theater Will Begin at Once

At the annual meeting of the Carmel Club of Arts and Crafts on Monday last it was decided to immediately proceed with the erection of the Arts and Crafts Theater. Resolutions, as follows, were read:

Whereas, The Carmel Club of Arts and Crafts has by resolution of its Board of Directors, and by vote of its membership in regular meeting, determined upon the building of a theater upon the grounds owned by it in the city of Carmel-by-the-Sea, and has authorized the financing and construction of such building.

Be It Resolved, That the president of the club appoint an executive committee of three members of the club, and that said executive committee be authorized and directed to secure tomorrow a building permit for construction of said theater, under the plans and specifications as made by M. J. Murphy, a contractor of said city; and that said executive committee be authorized and instructed to enter into a contract forthwith with said M. J. Murphy for the building of the theater at the price as set by its construction;

And Be It Further Resolved, That said executive committee be instructed to report to the board of directors of the club a plan for financing the project at the next meeting of said board; and that with the consent of that board, or a majority thereof, the executive committee is authorized and empowered to make and sign such agreements as may be necessary to secure finances for the contract price.

E. G. Kuster presented his scheme of a proposed commercial theater for Carmel, stating that he and Mrs. Kuster would finance the building to the extent of forty or fifty thousand dollars, the building to contain theater, concert hall, studio apartments and exhibition rooms; that he thought the club should know of his plans.

Notwithstanding the Kuster project the club determined to go on with its own theater building, as they would not abandon their long contemplated plan of having their own playhouse.

The president, Mrs. Hand, appointed the following committee to handle the matter: Perry Newberry, J. W. Hand and M. De Neale Morgan.

Annual Report

To the President and Fellow-members assembled:

The following is a report of the activities of the Carmel Club of Arts and Crafts for the year May, 1922, to May, 1923:

The club has held twelve regular monthly meetings, two special board meetings, and one special club meeting of members and share holders. The club voted to change its regular monthly meeting from the first Tuesday to the first Monday.

Three social entertainments were held: Reception to ladies of banker's association; Monterey county federation of women's clubs, and New Year day at home in the club house.

Concert: Antonio De Grassi.
Reading: Southern folk stories by Clara Alexander.

Lectures: Dr. Harvey A. Robinson, "Mind in the Making;" Mary Austin, "The American Pattern;" Mary J. Coulter, "Etching and Etchers," illustrated with lantern slides, and "Book Plates and their Making."

There was held in conjunction with these lectures a loan exhibition of rare and beautiful prints owned by residents of Carmel. Ralph Pearson, the well-known etcher, demonstrated the process of etching and printing with a small press.

Sixteen new members were added during the year. Two have been lost by death. Two have resigned on account of leaving Carmel.

The ninth season of the Carmel Summer School of Art was held during June, July and August, 1922, with M. De Neale Morgan director and Cornelius Botke and Fred Gray instructors. Arrangements are complete for the tenth season, 1923, with Paul K. Mays and Jo J. Mora instructors.

The fifteenth annual exhibition of paintings by artists of the Monterey Peninsula was held from July 20 to September 1, 1922. Cornelius Botke, chairman.

CLUB'S FINANCIAL CONDITION

The club is in a most prosperous condition, the treasurer's report showing a balance in May, 1922, $164.89; year's disbursements $1791.85; balance in bank May 1, 1923, $1157.79.

The club has acquired and completed payment on two lots, 11 and 16, Block C, this past year, making five lots in all.

There has come into possession of the club a new Knabe grand piano through the efforts of the music section, Thomas V. Cator, chairman; also an etching press has been installed, the purchase of which was made possible through the efforts of Cornelius Botke, chairman of art.

The Arts and Crafts Club has sold stock at $10 a share for and toward the building of the theater. The sum of $7000 is the goal to which the club aspires. $3000 has been subscribed as a loan by private individuals and efforts to obtain the balance will be solicited unless it is decided to secure a bank loan. Plans for the theater have been accepted and M. J. Murphy will be the builder.

Electric lighting equipment for the exhibition hall, also for the stage in the club house has been added during the year.

The club has endorsed a number of legislative measures which have been presented to its notice.

PUBLIC ENTERTAINMENTS

The following plays and entertainments have been given during the year:

May 13—May Fete and Street Carnival.

May 26—Reception to Bankers' Association.

July 20—Reception to artists and friends at opening of annual show.

September 21—County Federation, meeting and reception.

October 27—Three one-act plays—"Night at an Inn," "Dark Lady of the Sonnet," "Rented Ranch."

November 12—Miss Hunkins, Blue Bird Tearoom, entertainment, benefit for theater.

December 8—Two plays—"Cranford" and "Spreading the News."

December 23—Christmas masque, "Shepards' Bridge."

January 1—At home in the club hall, Cranford ladies presiding.

January 6—Twelfth Night Festival at Pine Inn, under direction John B. Jordan.

March 2—Four-act play, "High Justice," by Mae Harris Anson.

OLD AND NEW OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS

The officers and directors serving during the last year were: President, Mrs. M. E. Hand; vice-president, Dr. H. W. Fenner; treasurer, J. W. Hand; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. A. Kluegel; recording secretary, M. De Neale Morgan; directors, Dr. H. A. Spoehr, Miss M. E. Mower, Mrs. Sydney Yard, Mrs. P. K. Gordon.

New Organization Is Taboo Here

Monterey Peninsula Inc. has struck a snag; that is in Carmel. On Friday evening of last week twenty-eight business people gathered at Manzanita hall to discuss the pros and cons of the new inter city cooperative advertising and publicity organization.

The entire proposition did not look good to anyone present, notwithstanding the fact that of those present fourteen are members of the local chamber of commerce, as is evident by the adoption of the following resolution by unanimous vote.

Be it Resolved: That the business men of Carmel-by-the-Sea are opposed to the methods of the Carmel Chamber of Commerce and the present plan of advertising adopted by Monterey Peninsula Inc. That we would favor an organization that would work along local lines only, such as urging the improvement of streets and bettering local conditions generally, also a drive for new members, the fee to be expended for reliable literature that could be sent to those inquiring for same.

C. O. Gould, Secretary

The following were present:

The sentiments expressed in the foregoing resolution are not shared by many others here. Not a single hotel proprietor, not a single building contractor, not a single professional man or woman attended the meeting. Two realtor were present. In fact, no one known to be favorable to Monterey Peninsula Inc. was asked to be present at the meeting.

Freedom Forever

Editor, Pine Cone:

We the undersigned, acting quite unofficially, believe we voice the feeling of a large number of Carmel residents in commending warmly the business men of Carmel for deciding to stand aloof from Monterey Peninsula Incorporated.

We believe and hope that thereby they have secured for Carmel greater freedom to develop along its own distinctive lines.

Nearing the Goal

When the Pine Cone went to press last evening $20,000 of the $25,000 fund being raised by Monterey Peninsula Inc. had been pledged.

Notwithstanding much opposition to the organization's publicity and advertising plan in Carmel, this city contributed a considerable sum.

The banquet at Del Monte last Monday evening was attended by over four hundred people, fifty-five of whom reside in Carmel.

E. A. Hazen of Crockett, Contra Costa county, was a visitor here on Thursday. He is well known in political circles throughout the state.

The violin once owned by Paganini, the father of violin technique, is kept in the Palazzo del Municipio in Genoa. The violin is a product of the master craft of Joseph Guarnerius del Jesu. With three broken strings, it lies in a silk-lined box, in a large room, where the sunlight seldom enters.

Camp Fire Girls Hold Council Fire

Last Sunday evening on the beach the Carmel Camp Fire Girls held their first council fire for the awarding of honor beads. A remarkable record was made during the first month since organization, 154 honor beads having been won for various household tasks performed, camp craft learned, and citizenship.

Each member has been presented with a silver membership ring by the group as a whole, and an order has been sent to New York for twelve ceremonial gowns to be worn at council fires. Each girl will decorate her gown with her own symbol and will make a headband.

The Carmel organization has been named the Mary Austin Camp Fire in honor of the author who has written so much concerning the American Indian. The girls have had an interesting letter from her, promising to send some interesting trophies, and offering the use of her Indian costumes and plays if the girls desire to give an Indian entertainment in the Forest Theatre.

The following officers have been elected to serve for one year: President, Christine Burton; vice president, Ann Clute; secretary, Vivian Edler; treasurer, Florence Edler; librarian, Irene Gould; guardian of the fire, Mrs. Therese Ratliff.

SIX SURE WAYS TO START A FOREST FIRE

1. MATCHES—Be sure your match is burning briskly when you throw it away in the woods. Of course, a match thinks—what's its head for?
2. TOBACCO—Throw your lighted cigarette and cigar stumps and glowing pipe ashes into the biggest heap of brush and needles you can find along the road or trail. Only 40 per cent of our forest fires are set by smokers.
3. MAKING CAMP—Build a big campfire, and place it as close to young trees or clumps of brush as possible. To make sure your fire will spread, build it on top of the pine needles.
4. BREAKING CAMP—Don't bother about your fire when you leave camp; the rain is SURE to put it out.
5. BONFIRES—Build as big a bonfire as you can, especially if it is dry and windy. If you build it close to a tree or rotten log it will burn long after you have left.
6. FIGHTING FIRES—If you see a forest fire don't bother to put it out or report it to the nearest ranger. Why should you worry about the destruction of the National Forests that Uncle Sam has created for your use and enjoyment and that of your children?

BUT—IF YOU DO ANY OF THESE THINGS IN A CALIFORNIA FOREST, BE PREPARED TO PAY $500 AND GO TO JAIL.

BOOKS AND AUTHORS

An Excerpt from "Certain People of Importance"

Dirty, weary, but undaunted, the Crabtree family arrived in San Francisco late on a brilliant August afternoon, 1849. Tales of murder, death on the plains, the Indian outrage, met them on every side, and they felt themselves not only fortunate, but wise, in all their moves and decisions.

San Francisco, lying upon her seven sandy hills, looked civilized. There were few women to be seen among the jumble of cheap, wooden buildings, the quarters where Mexicans and Indians and half-breeds of every type were housed together. There was a "Frenchman's," a "Dutchman's" and a "Swede's."

The sugar and flour that had crossed the plains safely in 1849 had made a trail for tons of sugar and flour, for teas and coffee and other luxuries. They saw wealth come in and with wealth came schools and a library, "cable cars," theaters, shops. Magnificent homes went up like mushrooms on Nob Hill, the Vigilantes flourished at Fort Gunnybags, the Mexicans and the miners vanished, and with them the murderers and the riots.

Irvin S. Cobb

Is there anyone in this country who does not know the name of Irvin S. Cobb? Or what that name stands for in American literature? Judging from the way his books are taken from the public libraries—and they are too many to be named here—I should say emphatically not.

He has been and done many things—newspaper man, war correspondent, author, playwright, etc., etc.; there isn't space enough to chronicle all the ground he has covered, but from the time he first began writing he has been claimed by his fellow countrymen in a way that seems to make him belong to his admirers individually. The author who touches us humorously almost never fails to do just that. But it is his serious side, that side that gave us "The Belled Buzzard" series and "The Escape of Mr. Trimm" that has added to his great quota of our affections.

In "The Second Coming of Mrs. Bain's First Husband" we have a story of marriage of striking originality. It takes up an old point—the nagging wife—in an entirely new fashion.

Just a few reasons why our bread has the sweetness, freshness, wholesomeness of the home-made bread.

- ☐ Our shop is strictly sanitary and up to the highest point of perfection in equipment.
- ☐ Carmel Bakery knows well the art of baking nutrition and puts deliciousness into every tasty loaf.
- ☐ We claim that the best of everything is none too good, and never use substitutes.
- ☐ We insist upon just the sort of spotless, shining cleanliness you like in your own kitchen.
- ☐ That is why our bread is always delicious, nourishing and satisfying. It gives you your full money's worth.
- ☐ Our cakes and pastries are made of all pure ingredients and are of supreme quality.

Developing Playwrights

Harvard University, through its celebrated "47 Workshop," has come into international prominence because of its achievements in developing playwrights.

Philip Barry, one of the pupils in this class under Prof. George P. Baker, has a play called "You and I" among the successes of Broadway. Richard G. Berndon is the producer, and since the opening night it has been classed among the best plays produced in New York in years.

The announcement has just been made that a new contest is to be opened at once for another prize play, the competition to be open to all pupils of 47 Workshop except such as have already won a first prize. There are about nine of them. Among the playwrights who have taken this course with evident success are Eugene O'Neil, Edward Sheldon, the late Rachel Barton Butler, Frederic Ballard and the present successful contestant, Philip Barry. Richard G. Herndon will produce the new play as he has done the present, and the contest will close June 1.

It is the first practical institution of the sort anywhere. If it be true that the art of writing a successful play cannot be taught, this contest has shown that at least the work can be improved.

Like Father Like Son

David Sinclair, son of the novelist Upton Sinclair, together with a fellow student, J. H. Brooks, recently were threatened with expulsion from the University of Wisconsin because of the appearance on the college campus of an unauthorized publication called the Scorpion. Young Sinclair is the editor of the publication which, it is claimed, ran true to its name and contained a "sting." The sting, though, was aimed at the university and the faculty called the two students in a hearing. The editor of the paper claims that an issue of free speech was involved and declared his intention of going through with his paper regardless of the consequences. The Scorpion when issued styled itself a "political fortnightly."

Northern California Should Celebrate

Theatrical people, motion picture actors, actresses and directors are co-operating with a group of distinguished educators to present a striking spectacle for the Monroe Doctrine Centennial celebration in California.

Artistic features of the celebration will be supervised by the Sculptors'

Guild of Southern California, and Exposition Park, in Los Angeles, has been set aside for construction of spectacular structures, following Pueblo Indian design.

And Baseball Helps, Too

Ragtime and "jazz" may be working to the detriment of Young America, but their syncopated strains are winning converts to Christian ideals in Timbuctoo, Tibet and Tahiti, according to Paul Rader, evangelist and president of the Christian and Missionary Alliance.

"American jazz music is used by our more than 100 missionaries to attract the attention of and assemble the most savage people in our fields to evangelistic services," Mr. Rader said. "Our missionaries carry no arms, but through musical instruments and their voices raised in song and prayer ply their work of converting the heathen. Sacred words are put to modern jazz songs, noble thoughts to popular tunes, and then sung with a spirit that attracts the black, yellow and brown faces."

"All sorts of hymns are sung, but we find that the rhythm of ragtime tunes delights the simple mind of the savage, appeals to his tom-tom trained mind, and the first thing the missionary knows, the wild man is singing Christian words, learning white religious theology and presently is converted."

SPLASHES

An artist of New York uses only the many-colored petals of flowers instead of oil paints and thereby achieves most satisfactory and extraordinary results.

An ancient manuscript dealing with King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba contains the earliest historical reference to airplanes. The manuscript declares, "King Solomon gave the Queen of Sheba a vessel wherein one could traverse the air (or wind)."

The newly organized Chicago Civic Theater Association plans to establish and maintain a theater wherein plays of the highest standard and significance may be performed by artists who are recognized as having ability and reputation. Free performances will be given Saturday afternoons with a class play for the public school children of Chicago. A library of drama and art literature, to be known as the Actors' Library, will be maintained in connection with the organization.

"LET'S GO" IS THE C. M. T. C. SLOGAN

Thirty Days of Thrilling Outdoor Life Free to 1,000
Californians

COLONEL ERNESTE V. SMITH
Chief of Staff, 91st Division, U. S.
Army

Who will command Citizens' Military Training Camps at Del Monte and Fort Winfield Scott July 26 to August 24. "Let's go—it's all free" he says to young men of the state.

"Let's go," is the slogan of the War Department for 1,000 young Californians for Citizens' Military Training Camps this year. Amid historic settings of romantic appeal, experts of the regular army will provide at Del Monte thirty days of fun, frolic, athletics, amusements and training for both body and mind.

And it's all free. As part of the National Defense Program, the War department conducts these camps to raise the physical standard of the nation's young manhood, to inspire patriotism and promote better citizenship and respect for law and order. Any able-bodied young man not less than 17 or more than 24 years old is welcomed by the military authorities.

All Kinds of Sports

Despite the fact that camps do not open until July 26, California already is assured its full quota of a thousand declares Colonel Ernest V. Smith, chief of staff of the 91st Division, Presidio of San Francisco. There is still a chance for young Californians to be accepted for enrollment, however, if they send in their applications to him immediately.

This distinguished officer, with a record of more than 40 years' service, will command the camps and he has surrounded himself with a staff of trained experts to act as instructors. Besides the regular army officers to look after physical and moral welfare of those in attendance, there will be representatives of American Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus and similar organizations. Experts will have charge of the athletics which will include a six-team baseball league, basketball, tennis, pushball, mass athletics, swimming matches, track events, wrestling and many sports of all kinds.

Applicants Must Hurry

"Pick up any current magazine," says Colonel Smith, "and you will find advertisements for not less than 40 private summer training camps. Nothing so develops character and builds up strength and energy as a month at these camps. But the private camps are expensive. Still, in most cases, they are well worth every cent they cost. On the other hand, War Department camps in California are free and those who attend have, as their instructors, experts who have been tried and tested in real warfare and know young men."

"The young man who goes to camp comes back to his home with renewed vigor, fresh color in his cheeks, an erect and manly posture, broadened mental viewpoint, new friends and increased respect for constituted authority. His 30 days' training makes him more valuable as a citizen, more efficient, more aggressive and more self-reliant as long as he lives. It is an experience he can never forget."

"There is still time for young men to get in on this year's camps but they must hurry. Inquiries and applications should be forwarded right now to Headquarters 91st Division, Presidio of San Francisco."

RESOLUTION NO. 166

Resolution of Award

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, State of California, did in open session, at a regular meeting of said Board on the 16th day of May, A. D., 1923, at the hour of 8 o'clock p.m., at the City Hall in said city, publicly open, examine and declare all sealed proposals or bids for the following work to be done, and improvement to be made, in said city, to-wit:

That the roadway of San Antonio Avenue between the south line of Ocean Avenue and north line of Santa Lucia Avenue, for a width of eighteen feet, be graded and gravelled to the official grade, as set forth in, and in accordance with, the plans and specifications therefor on file in the office of the City Clerk of said city, and as said work and improvement is described in Resolution of Intention No. 155 of said Board of Trustees, duly adopted on the 3rd day of April, A. D., 1923, which Resolution of Intention is hereby expressly referred to for further particulars.

Now therefore, it is hereby resolved: That said Board of Trustees hereby rejects all of said proposals or bids except that next herein mentioned, and hereby awards a contract for doing said work and improvement to the lowest responsible bidder therefor, to-wit: S. Ruthven, at the price named in his bid, to-wit, the sum of $8700.00.

The City Clerk is hereby directed to post notices of this award conspicuously for five days, on or near the chamber door of said Board of Trustees, and also to publish said notice twice in the "Carmel Pine Cone," a weekly newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in said city, and hereby designated for that purpose by said Board of Trustees.

PASSED AND ADOPTED by the Board of Trustees of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, this 16th day of May, A. D., 1923, by the following vote:

AYES: Trustees Kibbler, Maxwell, Reardon, Newberry.

Noes—None.

Absent—Trustee Parkes.

Approved May 16, 1923.

(Seal) Wm. T. Kibbler,

President of said Board.

Attest: Saldee Van Brower, City Clerk.

STILL FOLLOWING ADVICE OF GREELEY

Railroad officials state that the advertising of central and northern California by Californians Inc. during the past five months has been the principal factor in swelling the westward tide of travel.

"Prospect" lists furnished to the railroads by the San Francisco state promotion organization have produced a large proportion of ticket buyers according to reports from local passenger agents in the East. An unusually large number of tickets sold here for round-trip trips, with San Francisco as the destination, indicating according to railroad officials that many of the tourists are potential settlers.

MOTION PICTURES VALUABLE IN EXTENSION TEACHING

When used in combination with other methods of presenting ideas, such as newspaper publicity, the spoken word, exhibits, slides and printed bulletins, the United States Department of Agriculture has found that motion pictures constitute a valuable addition to these extension agencies. The department maintains its own motion picture laboratory, where films are prepared to picturize improved cultural practices, to warn about dangerous conditions or undesirable methods, or otherwise to acquaint those at a distance from the national capital with the work of the department or its application to farm life.

In connection with extension work motion pictures have many advantages and few disadvantages. Some of the advantages are that they create interest in and a demand for farm demonstrations; they can cover a long period of time in a few seconds, showing the beginning of an operation, its progress, and its completion. Farmers in distant communities can see, in motion picture form, demonstrations which they could not possibly visit. Improved ways of handling familiar jobs, including household tasks, can be effectively shown by this means.

The limitations of motion pictures in extension work lie chiefly in the fact that they deal in generalities rather than specific details. They should, however, leave the beholder with a good, simple idea which will impress him to the point of seeking specific information from an extension worker or from printed sources.

Pop Ernst Scored on Twenty-Seven Hungry Holes

Last Sunday newspaper representatives of four counties—San Benito, Santa Cruz, Santa Clara and Monterey, to the number of twenty-seven, spent the day on Monterey peninsula. The organization is called the Fill-the-Hole Club.

The day was spent in visiting points of interest, including a couple of hours at Pop Ernst's eating emporium, where short addresses were made by D. H. Towne of the Salinas Index, F. W. Atkinson and R. G. Wilson of the Watsonville Register, Judge J. C. Crome of the San Juan Mission News, Allen Griffin and R. G. Watkins of the Monterey Herald, A. B. Smith of the Pacific Grove Review, Messrs. Kirkpatrick and Kellenberg of the Gilroy Gazette, F. H. Dempsey and others.

W. L. Overstreet was toastmaster. The next meeting will be held in Salinas on Sunday, June 12.

Campbell and Treat Are Legally Entangled

To more efficiently handle the vast amount of legal matters submitted to them for adjustment and for court action attorneys Argyll Campbell of Carmel and Fred Treat of Monterey have formed the firm of Treat & Campbell, with offices in this city and in Monterey.

Both men have had a wide and varied experience in the local, state and federal courts. Mr. Treat was admitted to the bar in 1897 and Campbell has been practicing successfully for fourteen years.

Fred Purner Retires

Fred A. Purner, in charge of sports, advertising and publicity for the Del Monte Properties Company for the past four and a half years, handed in his resignation two months ago to be effective this month. Purner's reason for leaving is due to his desire to locate in San Francisco. He has not definitely decided just what he will do but will probably be located in a week or so.

Purner is ending his association at Del Monte with the highest regard and best of feeling for all the executives of the company, and is carrying with him the good will and best wishes of the many friends he made on the peninsula.

It is possible that Purner will continue to be identified with the Del Monte Properties Company in handling many of the events which he staged and also in an advisory capacity regarding the general work of the sports and advertising department.

Yesterday and Today

Last night, from the foot of a twilight hill,
I walked with the shadows lonely and still;
The dark path sloped downward, and rain dripped slow;
As I, with wet cheeks, and bowed head low,
Wondered why God at close of a day
Made sorrow so hopeless, one could not pray.

This morn, on top of a rapturous hill,
I leaped with blue waves; felt breathless thrill
Of sweet rushing winds, wild birds calling high;

Little my heart, stretched wide as the sky;
Sang to the King of my sun-blazing Morn
Prayers made of glory, that I had been born.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Oldbury and their children of San Jose were weekend visitors here. They come to Carmel frequently.

Mrs. Elsie Lincoln Benedict was at the Highlands for a few days last week. She has left for Honolulu, where she will deliver a series of lectures.

The Brown cottage on Camino Real is now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Francis Crosby of Menlo, and also the parents of Mrs. Crosby, Mr. and Mrs. Rockwell of Kansas City.

Next month Willette Allen will be here for a vacation with her mother, Mrs. Florence Sharon Brown. After her visit she goes to Los Angeles to fill an engagement on the Orpheum circuit.

The trustees of the local public school have had erected on the school premises several new pieces of playground equipment, and for the past week the kiddies have been having the time of their young lives.

On the recommendation of H. F. Dickinson, Chicago attorney, who had spent several winters here, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Skere of Mombasa, East Africa, are in Carmel. They have acquired land on the point and will build.

Robert McCabe, one time manager of Pebble Beach Lodge, and later in the hotel business in Los Angeles, was a visitor here last week. He is now engaged in a large mining venture in Mexico, in which a number of Los Angeles capitalists are interested.

Edwin D. (Pop) Grace, recently returned from Australia, was in town last Wednesday. He is looking for a camp site on the peninsula for the annual outing of the Columbia Park Boys. Sites under consideration are the Jacks property, the Hatton land, Asilomar and Carmel beach.

Puppets to Prance

All Carmel, young and old, are looking forward to the three splendid marionette shows to take place at Arts and Crafts Hall next Monday and Tuesday nights and Tuesday on Tuesday afternoon after school.

The Kegg and Goldsmith puppets have taken their legitimate place on the American stage along with Tony Sarge, Van Volkenburg and Kremburg.

In "Cinderella," which is to be presented here, you will see your old friends, the Fairy Godmother, Wise Old Paw, Jolly Little Pay and Gay Little Piper. The mice will become horses, lizards footmen, a rat the coachman, and a pumpkin the royal golden carriage.

You'll enjoy the show.

Miss Margaret Brabo of Santa Barbara is visiting her friend, Miss Hazel Burwell, at the Mission tea house.

Charles S. Laumeister and wife were down from Palo Alto early in the week, attending the Peninsula banquet Monday evening.

Mason Schlosser was in town this week. He is much interested in the big street improvement program that Pacific Grove has mapped out.

Wendell P. Chambers of Alhambra, advertising manager of the Federated News of that city, was a visitor at the Pine Cone office last Monday.

Mrs. Ralph Hicks spent a few days in San Jose this week as a delegate to the convention of the Neighbors of Woodcraft of Monterey and Pacific Grove.

A. M. Allen of Point Lobos left on Tuesday for Philadelphia, stopping en route at many intermediate cities. He will be away about three months.

Dr. H. J. Hollison and wife of Burbank, in southern California, have come to Carmel to make their home. The doctor, who is a homeopathic physician and surgeon, has opened offices in the new postoffice building.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Jones of Lemon Cove are spending the week here, guests at the home of Mrs. Charles Clark. Mrs. Jones was a former resident here when she was Miss Harriet Bradner.

Mrs. Charlotte W. Williams has applied for letters of administration of the estate of her late husband, John L. Williams. She is named as sole legatee and the estate is valued at about $15,000.

Business connected with the recent merger of the Bank of Monterey with the Valley Bank of Fresno took Thomas J. Field, Stephen Field and Harvey Alexander to the Raisin city early in the week.

Dr. W. L. Cannon's lecture on Egypt at Arts and Crafts hall on Friday of last week was well attended, thus adding materially to the building fund of the Carmel church. New pews have been ordered, which will be made in this city.

Chairs recaned and upholstering in the proper way. Leave orders with R. G. Leidig, at Holman's store. F. B. Kelly, Box 36, Carmel adv.

Smart Clothes

You Need More Than Golf Clothes

The man who plays golf should select his golf suit with the same care that he uses in selecting his clubs.

The STEIN-BLOCH Sport Clothes have that roomy, loose fit—so necessary in making a good stroke—without losing the distinctive appearance which marks the well-groomed man.

Hand-tailored in the finest imported and domestic wools at a price which will be a pleasant surprise.
